Parents question boards methods in class relocation

While the Haliburton County Board of Education nears a decision on the fate of grade two student classes at Victoria Street School, some parents of children who could be affected by the move are skeptical of the Board's methods in investigating the repercussions of the change.

Paul Dillon, who has attended Board meetings on behalf of parents whose grade two children may be moved to form two grade three classes at the Senior Elementary School next year, feels the Board has tried to "railroad" the issue without adequate consideration of the effects on the 58 students, and that the proposal is the first step towards closing the school altogether.

"The Board took a very superficial look at the issue, and is just ramming ahead without adequate discussion," Dillon said in an interview Sunday. "Everyone is one the Sunday. "Everyone on the parents' side seems to feel that this is a move towards closing the school," he added. "They need the bodies at the big school to make it economically viable, but they're hiding behind other issues."

Dillon also claimed that the proposal arose in response to a request from Victoria Street Principal Ruth Gorrie for more space to house a library and gymnasium at the school, but that it was never her intention to win more facilities at the school at the expense of losing students. In an interview this week, Gorrie confirmed Dillon's allegations, saying, "our intention when we asked for the facilities was that it would not be at the expense of students; we were trying to better our students."

Gorrie and spokesmen for the parents' group, however, admit that the Victoria Street

School has been earmarked for eventual closure since the Senior Elementary School was built in Haliburton ten years ago. "We knew when the Senior School was built that Victoria Street would close; we always anticipated that," Gorrie said.

Jane Heyes, who heads the parents' group that has protested the move, agrees that the school is slated to be closed, but she disagrees that

Townships back Minden's stand

Anson, Hindon and Minden council has received support from four neighbouring municipalities in asking the Ministry of Revenue to reconsider plans to move municipal assessor John Hill to Toronto temporarily, even though Minister of Revenue George Ashe is claiming that no backlog in assessment jobs will occur as a result of the move.

In a letter dated April 8, Ashe told Minden Clerk-Treasurer Elinor Burke that, "at no time has relocating assessors interfered with the work performed in their home regional office." Ashe also told Burke, "I can assure you that your municipality will not encounter a backlog of assessments as a result of a large number of building permits on hand at the present time."

Both Lutterworth and Snowdon councils have sent letters to Ashe supporting Minden's request to have Hill remain in the Lindsay office, while Dysart and Stanhope have told Burke that they "concur in principle" with Minden's request. Neither council has submitted a motion of support to the Ministry of Revenue.

According to Burke, Hill has already been in Toronto for the past few days at least, and she adds that the current backlog in assessment jobs — estimated at between two and three hundred — remains unchanged.

Provincial MP John Eakins has also intervened on Minden's behalf. In a letter to Ashe April 13, Eakins said, "I support the townships' resolution that this is placing the smaller communities of Ontario at a great disadvantage in order to serve the larger municipalities such as Toronto." Eakins also suggested in the letter that, "surely this problem can be addressed by the use of the existing assessment people in Toronto and the metropolitan area, rather than placing our smaller communities at a disadvantage."

According to Ministry of Revenue plans, assessors will be relocated in Toronto for a two week period and returned to their home Regional office for one week, continuing the rotation until assessments in Toronto can be brought up to date.

Regional Assessment Commissioner Ivor James of the Ministry's Lindsay Office has said that the Toronto job could continue until July or later. According to James, most of the assessors reassigned to Toronto will come from Peterborough City.

Ashe's letter to Burke also says that James "will ensure that no municipality in Haliburton County will suffer as a result of moving assessors temporarily to Toronto."

'Average' number of objections submitted on zoning by-law

The new zoning by-law circulated by Minden council had received roughly fifty objections from ratepayers by the April 30 deadline last week, a number which Minden Clerk-Treasurer Elinor Burke says is "average" for a document of its kind.

Burke says the bulk of objections is comprised of letters from members of the Soyer's Lake Cottagers' Association, who are appealing the 25 metre lake frontage established for lots in the R3 zone. At a meeting of Minden council April 28, councillors agreed that the frontage be changed to 40 metres before the final version of the by-law is sent to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval later this month. Bob Lake Cottagers' Association has also registered an objection over the R3 issue.

A formal objection to the zoning by-law has also been submitted by the Minden Lake Ratepayers' Association. The group, in its letter, congratulated the council for incorporating many of the concerns expressed by the organization at a public meeting last autumn. However, according to the group's president, Bern Berry, they saw little need for the distinction between R4 and R5 residential zones. "The difference between the two was not made clear in the definitions," Berry said.

The president said the group would be sending a representative to the Ontario Municipal Board hearing to represent its views on the revised by-law.

There has been no objections received from cottagers' associations on Cannings, Mountain, and Twelve Mile lakes.

Burke also said that the municipality is surprised at the brevity of a letter from the Ministry of Natural Resources objecting to hazard land zoning in the by-law. Minden council has anticipated objections from the MNR over hazard land zoning along the Gull River.

Objections filed to zoning by-law

According to Burke, the Ministry's objection points out that the municipality has not met flood plain criteria established by the MNR. The by-law currently identifies 66 feet on either side of the Gull River as hazard land, which the MNR has said is too little. The Ministry said that the matter will have to be resolved at an OMB hearing on the by-law.

At the April 28 meeting of Minden council, councillors expressed confidence that most objections to the by-law had been corrected at a meeting held two weeks ago, when By-law Enforcement Officer Dick Schell, councillor Ed Pergolas and Elinor Burke met to review the document with Justice of the Peace Dean Elliott. Despite council's claims, however, councillors spent several hours reviewing various sections of the document at the April 28 session.

A complete list of changes that have been made to the by-law was not available from municipal offices at press time.

Burke says the by-law will now be forwarded to consultants at the firm of Proctor and Redfern in Toronto, where corrections will be made before the by-law goes to the OMB.

Grass fires continue to plague area fire departments. Last week the Minden firefighters were called out on a number of occasions to douse conflagrations. A member of the local brigade uses a backpack to spray a blaze that was reported Friday, adjacent to Highway 121 south of Minden.

Reeve's resignation shocks fellow county councillors

County councillors have expressed "shock" and "disappointment" over the resignation of Cardiff Reeve Malcolm McGillivray from the county road committee. The reeve took the action following a change in county voting structure removed the vote of Cardiff's Deputy Reeve. The council voted in favour in favour of changing the voting structure at the April 21 meeting. Cardiff, Snowdon and Monmouth all lost a single vote in recorded voting situations. The council agreed to allow the municipalities to have two votes in regular in regular votes in regular business.

County Warden Ron Gambell said following the announcement of McGillivray's resignation April 27 that he is "disappointed in McGillivray's attitude and actions." "I've always looked at McGillivray as a senior statesman on county council, and I've always respected him," Gambell said Thursday, "but I expected more of him than this. He's down on the Chamber (of Commerce), he's down on everything," Gambell said.

At the April 21 meeting of county council McGillivray called the council's grant of $50,000 to the Haliburton County Chamber of Commerce, "ridiculous," and said councillors were "giving the county away to the Chamber of Commerce," by awarding the grant.

Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey, who introduced the proposal which took away votes from the deputy reeves of Cardiff, Monmouth and Snowdon townships at the April 21 session of county council, said Friday, "I'm shocked at the position McGillivray is taking. I take this resignation as a personal attack," he added. Fearrey made the presentation to council on the request of Stanhope Reeve Jim Harrison, who is chairman of the Budget Committee which drew up proposals for altering the voting scheme. He also said that the voting change should be "no surprise" to McGillivray, since it was discussed at council on three

Seniors get centre grant

The Minden Cultural Centre Coordinating Committee has been awarded a grant of $17,162 from the Ministry of Health and Welfare New Horizons Program.

The money will go towards improvements for the seniors' common room at the centre, which is used by twelve different seniors' groups in the area. The room is currently used for business meetings as well as social, cultural and craft activities.

The New Horizons program, which provides funding for senior citizens' activities throughout the province, includes movies, talks and discussions, monthly health and foot clinics, lunches, quilting, rug hooking, painting and other special crafts.

occasions in the last three months.

McGillivray, meanwhile, has claimed that the three townships affected by the changed voting system which is scheduled to become effective once the new Haliburton Act is passed by the provincial legislature, are being "picked on" by other townships in the county. In an interview with the Times Thursday, McGillivray repeated statements made last week that he was "hurt" by the council's decision. "I don't think it was done fairly," he said. "The budget committee met with some man from the government; I feel that man should have spoken directly to council," McGillivray added.

Chairman of the roads committee Keith Tallman called McGillivray's resignation "regretful", adding that McGillivray has contributed a strong voice on the committee. As Reeve of Monmouth Township, one of the two townships besides Cardiff that will lose votes when the new Haliburton Act is passed, Tallman shares McGillivray's concern to some extent: "I was certainly disappointed in losing voting power as a small municipality. I realize it has to happen, but I think it's the principle of the thing that Mac is objecting to," Tallman said.

The new voting system was drawn up by the budget committee after talks with senior policy advisor Ted Foster of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs at a meeting last month. The new system is intended to provide a fairer distribution of votes to townships paying the largest share of the county budget.

McGillivray registered the only vote against the proposed change.

McGillivray also said Thursday the current voting system has always provided fair representation to the larger townships: "I won't say the voting is equal, but never once in my fourteen years on county council has Dysart lost a vote," McGillivray commented. "They always have representatives on the four important committees at county council, budget, steering, roads and Hyland Crest committees," he added. McGillivray served as Warden of Haliburton county in 1972 and 1980.

According to both Gambell and Fearrey, however, McGillivray has not chosen to have full committee representation for Cardiff in past years. "There's been a period in the past few years when Cardiff hasn't appointed anyone to the Land Division Committee, even though they were entitled to," Fearrey commented. Gambell added that for a certain time Cardiff did not appoint a deputy reeve, despite the fact that the township was allowed dual representation on county council. Mack Peters is currently serving as deputy reeve for Cardiff.

McGillivray has also said joining the County of Hastings, which borders Cardiff to the east. "I've always felt that we should join Hastings; we wouldn't be treated any more unfairly," McGillivray commented. "Our Highway Engineer is from Hastings and our children go to school there," he added. McGillivray did admit that he's "always thought" Cardiff should remain with Haliburton to "keep the county together."

Class relocation angers parents

moving the grade two students is a first step in the process. "I don't think they are considering closing the school for quite some time," she told The Times Sunday.

Another of the parents' major complaints is the fact that Gorrie has not yet been asked by the Board for her views on the move, even though she is the Board's consultant for primary education in the county.

Both parents and board members have expressed surprise that Gorrie has not been consulted. At a meeting of the Board held April 27, Director of Education Douglas Hodgson agreed to hold talks with Gorrie, but several observers feel the talks should have taken place at the outset of discussions on moving the students.

According to Janet O'Neill, one of the parents whose children will be affected by the move, the Board was on the verge of voting on the issue at the April 27 session, before any attempt had been made to contact Gorrie. "The meeting with Ruth Gorrie should have taken place at the beginning, certainly before any vote was taken," O'Neill said. She also said that the issue has been "railroaded" by the Board without adequate consideration. She added that at the April 27 meeting, board member Paul Wilson "couldn't believe" that Gorrie had not been asked for her views on the move.

According to Paul Dillon, board member Len Salvatori told parents at the meeting that it was Mrs. Gorrie's responsibility to approach the Board. Dillon says he has learned that Gorrie intended to make a presentation to the board earlier this year, but decided against the move.

Hodgson told The Times Monday that a meeting with Gorrie, which took place yesterday (Tuesday) in Haliburton, would be the first time the board has consulted her on the matter. The outcome of the talks have not yet been made public.

Gorrie, meanwhile, refused to comment on the issue during an interview Sunday, saying, "I'm not prepared to answer a lot of questions on the matter," and adding that she didn't want to "jeopardize" her talks with the Board.

Education budget increased 10.5%

Haliburton County residents will, on average, be paying 10.5% more in education taxes this year with taxpayers in at least two municipalities facing more than a 13% increase.

The 1982 education budget figures were endorsed at the March 27 meeting of the Haliburton County Board of Education.

The board plans to spend $6,739,000 this year compared with $5,934,000 in 1981, a 13.6% increase. Of this amount, the provincial government will provide $2,639,000 with $3,787,000 to be raised through local taxes. The provincial share of the local education budget has risen by 16.8%.

Ratepayers in the Improvement District of Bicroft and in Monmouth Township will have to pay over 13% more this year to support the county education system. The share for Anson, Hindon and Minden is slightly below the county average at 10.2%.

The largest share of the education budget will be paid by taxpayers in Dysart et al with a total of $1,170,000. That municipality's increase is the smallest for the county being 9.7%.

The following is the break-down of the education budget which must be met through municipal taxes. The figures in brackets are 1981 amounts.

Anson, Hindon and Minden ($686,000), $756,000, an increase of $70,000 or 10.2%

Cardiff: ($173,000), $191,000, an increase of $18,000 or 10.1%

Dysart: ($1,066,000), $1,170,000, an increase of $104,000 or 9.7%

Glamorgan: ($217,000), $241,000, an increase of $24,000 or 11%

Lutterworth: ($257,000), $284,000, an increase of $27,000 or 10.7%

Monmouth: ($138,000), $157,000, an increase of $19,000 or 13.4%

Sherborne: ($315,000), $348,000, an increase of $33,000 or 10.4%

Snowdon: ($114,000), $127,000, an increase of $13,000 or 10.9%

Stanhope: ($406,000), $452,000, an increase of $46,000 or 11.2%

Bicroft: ($54,000), $61,000, an increase of $7,000 or 13.7%.

Board teachers reach agreement

The Haliburton County Board of Education has reached a settlement with the secondary school teachers that will award teachers an 11.5% wage increase and a 54.5% increase in OHIP subsidies.

Derrell Stamp, chairman of the Board of Education negotiating committee, says the settlement was reached after two evenings of negotiations between the teachers and Board of Education representatives. He added that that 11.5% wage increase will be effective for all four teachers' categories within the federation.

Both the board and the federation have ratified the contract agreement, which will affect thirty-eight teachers at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. Under terms of the agreement, the teachers will receive a 7.5%

OHIP subsidy, increased from 20.5% which they received under the 1981 contract.

Bill 82

Director of Education Douglas Hodgson has said that details of the study, which the Haliburton Board of Education has spent a year preparing, are not yet public. According to Hodgson, the document has now gone to the Ministry of Education for further study, and will be implemented in Haliburton County Schools by 1985 if it meets with government approval.

Under the terms of Bill 82, passed by the provincial legislature, all boards of education in the province were requested to conduct a study on special education needs in their regions and their plans for implementing Bill 82 by the 1985 deadline outlined in the bill.

Cardiff's isolation

Cardiff Reeve Malcolm McGillivray may find that he has alienated his fellow councillors at the county and electors in his home township with his recent actions.

The veteran politician apparently acting in a fit of pique, has resigned his seat on the county road committee and heaped abuse on the council of which he is a member. His action appears to stem from a recent vote of the county body which, if approved at the provincial level, would see this municipality and two others lose one of two votes when a recorded vote is called.

The reasoning behind the change, and incidentally the representatives of the other two municipalities Monmouth and Snowdon to lose votes, voted in favour of the move, is that the smaller municipalities were able to wield greater voting than their tax contribution to the operation of the county. It makes sense that those who provide the largest share of the county revenue should have the greatest voice on how money should be spent.

McGillivray's actions do little but undermine his respected position among county politicians. By resigning from the road committee, an important body overseeing the largest portion of the county budget, he does nothing but disenfranchise those who elected him to look after the needs of his township and the county as well.

The irony of the situation is that most county votes are taken on an informal basis, one man - one vote. Rarely is a recorded vote called when a formula of weighted voting is used. McGillivray's suggestion that he or his deputy reeve, Mac Peters could miss alternate meetings, has a hollow ring to it when this fact is considered. The input of both representatives would be welcomed by the council just as Snowdon Deputy Reeve John Francis and Mommouth Deputy Reeve Carman Coumbs will be expected, and we hope encouraged, to continue their contributions to the operation of the county.

McGillivray's suggestion that perhaps Cardiff Township should become part of Hastings County is nothing more than posturing. Unfortunately, it only adds to the attitude of antagonism that has come between himself and the other county councillors.

It may be very difficult to resolve the dispute in the next few months and it is likely the Cardiff representatives will find themselves increasingly isolated, to their own townships' and the county's detriment.

New ministry welcome

- by John Eakins, M.P.P. -

This week in the Legislature I spoke for my colleagues in the debate to establish the new Ministry of Tourism & Recreation. Since my election in 1975, I have worked to have a separate Ministry of Tourism, because it has always been obvious to me that tourism was of secondary consideration in the combined Ministry of Industry & Tourism. Both are now separate and different ministries, and I am delighted that the government has accepted our Tourism Task Force recommendation and brought this about.

I fully support the new Minister and I have urged Mr. Baetz to assume a leadership role and give tourism a high profile. Too few people know that it is our second largest industry in Ontario, and represents $9 billion to the economy of this province.

It is a move long overdue. The Minister has an opportunity to make sure that this industry is not restricted by the considerations of other ministries. The time has come for a fresh approach, and for the co-operation of all ministries on behalf of the tourism and vacation interests of Ontario.

I look forward to my role as a constructive Opposition spokesman.

Pension reform

Liberal Leader David Peterson has suggested that the Ontario Government is a major stumbling block to pension reform in Canada, because it has failed to guarantee a decent income for thousands of poor single seniors, and has refused to withdraw its veto on one national reform - a provision which would permit women to stop work for several years to raise a family without taking a cut in pension benefits. If the reform were implemented, it would increase by some 22 per cent the pension income of women who have dropped out of the labour market for a short time, and "those are some of the people in our society that need that help the most." The Opposition has also urged the Premier to indicate when the province intends to respond to its own all-party Select Committee which recommended earlier this year that benefits for single seniors be raised to 60 per cent of the rate for couples.

Alsands project

In an effort to save the disintegrating Alsands project, Alberta's Premier was in Toronto recently to meet with potential investors and to brief the Premier of Ontario on the question. David Peterson told the Premier in the Legislature that Ontario

The following is an open letter to members of Haliburton County municipal councils.

Gentlemen:

I am taking the liberty of addressing you a matter I consider to be of great urgency - the testing of the United States' Cruise missile in Canada, at Cold Lake, Alberta, in June.

It has been reported that the whole stockpile of nuclear weapons is now equal to more than a million of the type of bombs dropped on Hiroshima in 1945. To quote from a Toronto Star editorial ... "We are now hoarding the equivalent of three tons of TNT for every man, woman and child on the face of the earth."

The Cruise missile is the latest and most deadly of the weapons, and the protests to our government against allowing it here should be vigorous and immediate.

In Europe and the British Isles the people are protesting it being placed there. In Belgium a poll revealed that 65.9% of the people oppose the deployment of Cruise and Pershing II missiles on their territory. In Britain, in the cities of Glasgow, Aberdeen, Sheffield, Bristol and London, the people have held torchlight processions to protest the positioning of the Cruise missiles there.

Here in Canada the tide of opposition is mounting daily from coast to coast, as for instance, the march of thirty thousand people from all walks of life in Vancouver last week.

The United Nations Disarmament Committee is to meet early in June, and our Prime Minister and Foreign Affairs Minister will be attending. It is therefore imperative that our people convey to them that Canadians want no part of this madness which could annihilate us all.

I would suggest that your Council go on record as being strongly opposed to the Cruise missile tests, and any further proliferation of nuclear weapons, and that you so inform our Prime Minister, Foreign Affairs Minister, Premier Davis of Ontario and our Federal and Provincial Members of Parliament.

Mrs. Louise Watson

The end of the line...

As CN is poised to lift the rails of the Haliburton-Lindsay line, the province balks at buying the trackage and questions are raised about the CN price tag.

As Canadian National Railway is poised to begin removing rails and ties from the Haliburton - Lindsay rail line this week, many people in government and business are shaking their heads in frustration after a fruitless battle to save the line. The provincial government is still undecided on whether to buy the land once the track is gone.

The Haliburton - Lindsay line has been under scrutiny by CN and the provincial government since the Canadian Transport Commission granted CN permission to abandon and remove the track in September 1981. Municipal politicians in Victoria and Haliburton counties have urged the Ontario Ministry of Transportation and Communications to buy the line intact for recreational use, and steam train enthusiasts have tried to convince the province that a tourist excursion train could bring the line back to life. Despite a strong voice for keeping the track in place, however, CN intends to begin dismantling the track this month. A government task force on Provincial Rail Policy, meanwhile, is asking CN for another six months to decide its intentions for the 55-mile right-of-way.

According to Transport Minister James Snow, the province initially opposed the abandonment of the line. In a letter to Dysart Clerk-Administrator Wayne Wood April 6, Snow repeated statements made to the township of Ops that the province's opposition "was based on the possible future need for rail to carry the natural resources of this area, as well as the steam train proposed by Victoria and Haliburton Counties." Despite the Ministry's attempts to sway the CTC, the authorization to CN to abandon the line went through and the long debate over the future of the line began.

Costs too high

Government spokesmen now offer a number of explanations for not making a move to buy the trackage. John Menary, senior policy advisor with the Rail Office of the MTC, says the province established that "there is no near term needed for the track." He also says that costs that would have to be absorbed in buying the trackage is "fairly high." "If there is a use for the rail line in the future, it is not certain that the existing track will be of any use," Menary adds.

There is no doubt in anyone's mind that the economic viability of the steam train is thin, but many observers are wondering if the value CN has placed on the trackage is completely realistic. Dysart's Wayne Wood is skeptical of CN's decision to remove the track, and after 14 years as an employee of the company, his opinion has definite authority. "Putting a value on the rails now is a sheer fallacy by CN but it scares the province off," Wood says. "The scrap value of the trackage will be no less five or ten years from now. Prices are so low today that it will cost them as much to tear them up as it's worth," Wood states. Adds Dave Johnson, secretary of the Railway Retention Committee that has overseen negotiations to save the line. "No one knows for sure what price CN is putting on the line, it was couched in such general terms."

Wood's disappointment with CN's decision is hard-felt, not only because he grew up beside the line in Burnt River, and watched his family make a living with CN, but also because as Clerk-Administrator for Dysart et al he has pushed CN to postpone a decision on scrapping the trackage. "I feel it's a short sighted solution to take the bridges and rails out now; the right-of-way almost becomes useless without them," Wood says.

Rails are needed

Spokesmen at CN, meanwhile, say the rails are needed: "We need the rails for use elsewhere," says Frank Lopes, technical services engineer with CN's Belleville office. "We're trying to reduce our maintenance costs on the land - the upkeep, taxes and general maintenance," he explains. Public Relations spokesman Mike Matthews adds that the 154,000 ties, which may take in excess of a year to remove, will be sold separately by contract.

As for the steam train, it seems that no one has yet taken the proposal seriously. "Nothing that has come to us indicates any serious plans to do something with the line," Matthew says. Adds Lopes, "While we had some tentative contacts, about the possibility of a steam train, nothing explicit was ever put forward". The provincial government is equally foggy on why the steam train fell through. MTC's John Menary: "We have received no indication that the steam train proposal will be realized in the near future."

While no one seems quite sure why the idea died, Dave Johnson of the Railway Retention Committee feels a similar proposal from a Collingwood group could have killed government interest in the Haliburton/Lindsay project. "My feeling is that the province was mildly interested in a train within the Tourist-Commuter Shed of Metropolitan Toronto, but more interested in the Collingwood line: it's shorter (12 miles and closer to Toronto). We didn't get a great deal of encouragement from Ministry of Industry and Tourism reps in the early part of the winter; they were cold. They told us the feasibility study hadn't gone far enough in establishing costs." Johnson adds that the economy was again a factor in the demise of the plan: according to CN's figures at least, $1 million in improvements would be necessary before the line could be returned to use.

But according to Wood at least, CN's $1 million figure is "pie in the sky". He says that consulting engineers who had done extensive work on high speed CPR trackage on the prairies and in B.C. told Board of Transport hearings two years ago that the figure was simply wrong.

At least one man is still optimistic a Haliburton - Lindsay train may yet roll. Ed Skelcher began working on the idea of the steam train along with Art Eyeris 7 years ago, and he feels there is still a chance it will go through. "I think it's a little early to jump to conclusions," Skelcher says. "The municipalities may move to buy the tracks. These tight economic times put pressure on any project of this kind, but we're still anxious to go ahead and do it if the means are there," he says.

Before Skelcher's dream can be realized, however, the municipalities involved will have to make a bid to buy the track, and without government support, it seems unlikely they can meet the huge price CN has placed on the rails. A combined bid by Victoria and Haliburton counties, or by any of the municipalities, has proven too forbidding a task for politicians already wearied by months of negotiations with CN.

Wayne Wood feels that the end of the line is partly the product of poor negotiations: "It seems to me they've been running around in circles down in Lindsay, holding long meetings with no success," Wood says of the Railway Retention Committee's meetings with the province and CN. "Dysart's number one concern has always been to have the tracks left in place. We argued that very strongly at the board hearings two years ago, and the province was sympathetic; unfortunately, our opinion won the case but lost the war." While politicians back down from the prospect of long negotiations and high bills, CN continues with plans to remove the 55 miles of rails and ties and the several trestles that span rivers along the way. The end of the Haliburton - Lindsay line seems shrouded in disappointment on all sides. CN clearly stands to save taxes and royalties by removing the track and selling the land, but on one in government knows much about the price they have set for the track, except that it is prohibitively high.

Now the rail line that was built by the sweat of generations is threatened by a different kind of mire -- bureaucracy.

It seems a sad end for an important land mark in the history of Haliburton county.

from the chamber

by Bob Stinson

For over a year members of the Marketing committee have been working on details of the marketing plan for the Chamber that will be put into place during the next year. Last week the board met to adopt the final version of the plan which included some changes due to the budget that had been allocated and a number of recent developments.

One of the most significant changes in plans will be the use of an advertising agency being retained through the Central Ontario Travel Association to provide broader coverage and a more elaborate area directory than we presently distribute. The concept will provide members with a choice of placing their advertisement in a publication that receives an outside circulation of 75,000 plus a local edition of 25,000 or the option of appearing only in the local edition which will include the Haliburton section of the larger book along with their additional pages and distinctive cover.

Another innovative move will be the offering of a pre-recorded Haliburton weather report to radio stations all across Ontario. This idea was presented to the board by Elgin Stouffer and he is volunteering a great deal of his time to get it rolling. Once in place it is anticipated that a great deal of exposure for the Haliburton Highlands will result at a fairly reasonable cost.

A considerable portion of the marketing efforts will be directed at creating more convention and business meeting business in the Highlands. This priority recognizes not only the immediate year round traffic that this industry creates but the ultimate benefit of having introduced the Highlands to many of the delegates for the first time. Having done so we know they'll be back.

Please remember, however, that these plans are for next year and that this year's are already in process. The 1982 directory has not yet been distributed to many of you but is available at the Chamber office. Any members who would like a supply before we get a chance to drop some off are certainly welcome to drop in and pick some up.

Ladies beautify Haliburton

We had the pleasure last week of meeting with the recently formed Haliburton Businesswomen's Association. One of the unique features of their organization, which is headed up by Jackie Banks, is that they insist they are going to operate with no budget. They have already accomplished a number of projects using volunteer or donated assistance and are presently designing maps to create "Walking Tours" in the village. In order to make things more attractive they are also embarking on a program which will result in showings of flowers throughout town. The plants are being provided by the residents of Extencare who have nursed them along throughout the winter and a garden club has now been formed to care for them. The Garden Club is looking for active members and anyone interested should contact Madge Thompson at 457-2705.

We applaud the efforts of the girls in Haliburton and certainly suggest that every business in town should see that a female member of their establishment becomes a member. We look forward to working in co-operation with them.

Guild Choir Concert

The Guild of Fine Arts Choral Society is holding its annual concert tonight (Wednesday) at the High School to cap off the successful concert series sponsored by the Guild. The society is also sponsoring a performance by the Trinity United Church of Peterborough at the Minden United Church on May 30th at 7:00 p.m. The evening is entitled "Dvorak at the Foot of the Cross". A collection will be taken and refreshments will be served at the conclusion.

Welcome new members

We are pleased to welcome as new members this week "Resort Furnishings" operated by Willis and Donna McNeilly. They are located in the former Pop Shoppe building on Water St. and the 35 by-pass. They offer many exceptional buys as a result of hotel refurbishing projects and can be of particular help to our motel and resort members.

Onondaga Camp have joined us to add to our increasing list of boys' and girls' camps. Camp Director is Nick Florian and the camp has operated for many, many years on Bob Lake south of Minden.

"Hair Care" is operated by Mary Bell at the corner of highway 35 and 118 (formerly 530) in the Medley building. Mary can handle all of your hairdressing needs and she provides free parking in the heart of downtown Carnarvon.

Be a member and support those who are - they care about the community, as you do.

Column takes a holiday

We shall be on vacation for the next couple of weeks so this column will not appear until the 26th of May. The Chamber office will still be open as usual, however, and we urge all who have brochures for distribution to have them into the centre as soon as possible.

Disarmament group plans June meeting

A recent meeting of disarmament groups in Huntsville has broadened plans for a disarmament lobby group in Haliburton County.

Harold Keeton, the prominent trade union leader who chaired a six-man panel on disarmament at the Huntsville session, has agreed to speak at a founding meeting of "People for Peace," the disarmament group being organized by Louise Watson and Sonya Holliday-Rhodes of Minden.

According to the two women, there are now ten people working on the organization of the group, which plans the founding meeting for the end of June. Mrs. Holliday-Rhodes says organizers are also seeking additional speakers for the public meeting and grade 8 classes at Archie Stouffer Elementary School will be providing posters to publicize the event.

Several prominent speakers addressed the ninety-eight who attended the Huntsville meeting Monday. Dr. Susan Mitchell of the Physicians for Social Responsibility spoke along with Dr. Norman Alcock, the professor of Strategic Studies who has been instrumental in organizing disarmament lobbies in Muskoka. Reverend Paul Miller of the United Church also sat on the disarmament panel. Gravenhurst councillor Cecil Schell spoke to the group on his work in persuading Gravenhurst council to agree to a referendum on disarmament as part of the fall election ballot.

Watson and Holliday-Rhodes are asking anyone interested in helping establish "People for Peace" to contact them at the following numbers: Louise Watson, 489-2359; Sonya Holliday-Rhodes, 286-3122.

Sunday openings

The Solicitor General has informed the Legislature that the Attorney General has sent to Ontario's Crown Attorneys a directive that stiff fines should be sought for stores violating Sunday closing laws. The smaller fines imposed in the past by courts have been described as actually encouraging stores to flout the law.

Signing improvements needed

Speaking in the Legislature on Bill 41, "An Act to Establish the Ministry of Tourism & Recreation", I urged the Minister, the Honourable Reuben Baetz, to play a leadership role, now that Ontario has a separate Ministry of Tourism, and deal with those concerns that will increase the profile of tourism.

I have urged the Minister to do a complete review of highway signing to reflect the tourism potential of highway destinations. I have used the example of Bobcaygeon, one of Ontario's most attractive areas, receiving no recognition for travellers approaching the intersection of Highways 35 and 7. Unless the travellers are familiar with highway numbers, they will only see the sign designating Bobcaygeon after they travel some distance east on Highway 7.

This is just one example of poor highway signing, and many more exist in the province. I have expressed my confidence in the new Minister and he will have my full support in his work in the new Ministry. I am fully supportive of its creation.

Now that's a Lake Trout! Angler Len Lonsberry displays a 13.6 pound monster he hooked Friday in an undisclosed lake north of Minden. Lonsberry made the lucky catch on steel line using a 4 inch Williams' Wobbler while fishing from a boat with his wife. Lonsberry says the trout are down deep at this time of year; he hooked this whopper at the end of 200 feet of line. And, true to form for an avid fisherman, he says a couple of really nice one's got away.

by Ron Reid - Federation of Ontario Naturalists

This is the time of year when acid rain hits its peak. The winter's accumulation of acidity in the snow comes coursing down the swollen streams, and the spring showers add their lethal dose. Unfortunately, this is also the mating time of year of Ontario's amphibians, spurring the frogs and toads to song, and sending the woodland salamanders back to their native ponds.

Ontario has seven species of large, forest-dwelling salamanders. It's not surprising that most people don't know them well, for they spend 11 1/2 months of the year underground. These "mole" salamanders silently tunnel beneath the forest floor, feeding on insects and other small invertebrates for most of their twenty to thirty year life span. On a warm, rainy night early each spring, they emerge en masse to travel to small woodland ponds. There they mate and lay their eggs. It is there that they also encounter the effects of acid rain, in those parts of Ontario where the granite terrain cannot buffer the residues from smokestacks hundreds of miles away.

According to the Canadian Amphibian and Reptile Conservation Society, recent studies in New York and Massachusetts have shown a severe decline in salamanders breeding in these acidified ponds. Apparently the acid reacts with calcium atoms in the salamander egg membranes, producing various salts and depleting the calcium necessary for bone development. As a result, more than 60% of the eggs fail to hatch, compared to a normal egg mortality of less than one percent.

Does it really matter that a group of secretive salamanders are wiped out by acid rain? In itself, the effects of their removal in the ecosystem is likely to be small. But if acid kills the eggs of salamanders, it will likely affect those of frogs and toads as well, and soon we may miss the spring serenade from a froggy pond. And even the eggs of birds that feed on aquatic insects are beginning to show changes related to acid rain. In the words of Dr. James Laxell: "The death of salamanders is just a token, a warning. We live here too."

O.P.P. to be honoured twice in Minden

If you've always wanted to declare your feelings for the O.P.P., this summer you'll get your chance provided they're the right ones. Minden municipal council has declared July 4 to 11 "O.P.P. Appreciation Week."

The Minden Business Improvement Association is sponsoring the event, which will see the O.P.P. information van open to the public in the Minden downtown area. The O.P.P. van houses various displays which depict many aspects of the force in action. It is designed to include facets of police work ranging from public assistance to crime prevention. The van will be staffed by a member of the O.P.P. during office hours.

Province-wide

On a province-wide scale, meanwhile, O.P.P. Commissioner James Erskine has extended an invitation to all Ontario residents to visit any of the 16 district headquarters and 185 local detachments during this year's Police Week, May 9-15.

The slogan for this year's Police Week is, "We are all victims of crime," and Erskine feels the slogan is a forceful one. "This year's slogan really hits the spots," Erskine said in a statement released last week. "We are all paying in the end, whether it's higher prices in stores to compensate for shoplifting, higher insurance premiums to pay for stolen cars or higher taxes to pay for vandalized schools," he added.

Besides the province-wide open houses at police headquarters, the O.P.P. is also planning displays in various shopping malls that will emphasize ways in which people can help prevent crime. Erskine explains this approach as one that is gaining prominence with the O.P.P. "Police Forces are moving more and more to protective policing, or striving to prevent crime rather than just catching the criminals afterwards," Erskine comments.

He adds, however, that public support is essential. "The final technology and the latest police equipment are useless without the help of a concerned community."

Constable Gary Chapman of the Minden detachment says Minden headquarters will be open to the public all week from May 9 to 15.

Nurses plan clinic

Nurses from Haliburton and Minden Red Cross Hospitals and the Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home will be sponsoring Nurses Week, May 10th to 15th.

The 22 members of Ontario Nurses Association's 22 members will be holding a blood pressure clinic to mark the event. The clinic will offer a free blood pressure check and nurses will be on hand to discuss its importance as an indication of general health. It will be conducted at the Minden IDA Drugstore May 13 and 14 from one until three each afternoon.

"Nursing Is" has been chosen as the theme for Nursing Week this year, and organizers hope it will highlight the enormous scope of the nursing profession. ONA spokesmen are stressing the vital contribution nurses make outside the hospital; in public health units, clinics, homes for the aged and nursing homes.

Members of Local 213 see the blood pressure clinic as a means for the public to meet and talk to nurses about their profession and its role in the local community.

3 charged with store break-ins

Three Minden area youths have been charged with break, enter and theft and possession of stolen property following an investigation by officers of the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

According to the police, intruders gained access to the Pro Hardware Store Sunday evening in Minden through a doorway leading onto the roof of the main section of the store. Access to the roof was gained by scrambling up a television tower which had been lying beside the building.

Once inside the building, the thieves made off with $1,000 worth of watches, radios and calculators.

Following an investigation, three youths were charged with the incident. The trio were also charged with a recent break-in at the Store-room Natural Food store in Minden, two cottage break-ins on Mountain Lake and two cottage break-ins on Beer Lake.

Police have recovered the stolen merchandise.

Charged are Randy Sawyer, 18, Paul Upton, 16 and Doug Moffat, also 16. Dale Ripley, 16, was charged in connection with the cottage break-ins.

Constables Jim Martin and Al Bibby were the investigating officers.

Housing authority appoints executive

Although it doesn't yet have a name the new non-profit housing corporation being formed by Lutterworth, Stanhope, and Anson, Hindon and Minden councils has appointed an executive and is now a few weeks away from incorporation.

At a meeting April 29 in Minden, Acting chairman of the joint housing committee Ed Pergolas was confirmed as chairman of the group. Lutterworth councillor Bill Prentice was appointed vice chairman, Stanhope Clerk-Treasurer Gerald Bain secretary and Al Mayo of the Toronto Dominion Bank, Treasurer.

Municipal representatives on the corporation appointed at the Thursday meeting are Jim Harrison (Stanhope) and Larry Cummins (Minden). Prentice will represent Lutterworth.

Solicitor Don Finn has been named as the legal representative for the organization. Alf Wickens and Tony Samarillo will form the property procurement and construction committee which will make recommendations for the site of the low-rent housing.

According to Pergolas, the group has not yet made final decisions on how to proceed with the establishing the geared-to-income housing, which is expected to provide twenty units for seniors and ten for families. Pergolas did say, however, that the group will probably decide to build the twenty unit complex for the seniors, rather than buy existing housing. "The whole crux of the thing right now is building versus purchasing," Pergolas said following last week's meeting. "There are many factors involved, but our current thoughts are to build a twenty unit complex for the seniors," Pergolas said.

Pergolas also said that as many as ten of the seniors' units and three of the ten family units may offer geared-to-income rent. According to guidelines of the government program which will fund the project, rental payments on other units will be determined by averaging rents on similar units in the county. The federal and provincial governments will then cover the difference between the averaged rent and the rent needed to cover construction and maintenance costs.

All sites, designs and property and building purchases must be approved by the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing. The joint federal and provincial program will cover all costs of the project, so that no expense will be incurred by the three municipalities involved.

Pergolas estimates that the project will bring $1,250,000 into the area during the construction phase. "We estimate that the twenty seniors' units will cost between $700,000 and $800,000, and the family units an additional $500,000 for a total of $1,250,000," Pergolas said. He also outlined an additional provincial grant available to the corporation for subsidy of solar water heating installations. According to Pergolas, the grant would provide $75,000 towards the cost of the solar heating equipment.

Pergolas also stressed that the cost of the project will be borne entirely by the governments involved. "Already we've heard people say 'the municipality can't afford things like this.' In fact, the cost to the municipalities involved is absolutely nil," Pergolas explained. "I think we've gone too long in this municipality not taking advantage of government schemes such as this. As taxpayers we're paying for it anyway, whether we benefit or not, so we might as well get what we can," he added.

The executive will meet May 7 in Minden to confirm a name for the group. Once the municipal councils involved have passed motions endorsing the executive, Finn will begin preparations for incorporation, which is expected to be completed within the next two weeks. The newly-formed corporation will then become eligible for a $3,000 grant to begin work on the project.

Chamber of Commerce expands office facilities

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce is getting some badly needed facilities later this month as a result of a decision by the Board of Directors last week. The Chamber is acquiring a 12' x 32' portable building which will be added to the south side of the existing building to house the offices and provide a meeting room.

Shawn Hagerman, chairman of the building committee, has been searching for ways to alleviate the Chamber's inadequate and cramped conditions for some time. It is, however, a temporary solution only, he stressed, and he sees it as an excellent compromise until the funds can be raised to create a more attractive building in which to greet visitors to the Highlands. Shawn noted that the board is now considering starting a fund to put up something really appropriate such as a log building on the Welcome Centre site.

The structure now being acquired has been used as the clinic for Dr. Vanderweken's veterinary practice near Stanhope. "When the decision was made by the doctor to move to British Columbia he offered the building to us at a very reasonable price," said manager Bob Stinson, "and considering that the most of the cost could probably be recouped in 2 or 3 years if we no longer needed the building, it was a very logical solution to our problem."

The total cost, including moving and setting the building in place is approximately $4,000 and the Chamber plans to spread that out over two years so that only $2,000 comes out of this year's and next year's budget. They have also kept $2,000 in their maintenance budget to improve the appearance of the existing building and renew the Welcome Centre sign.

The board was also concerned that none of the funds earmarked for promotion be used for this project and they allocated the money out of the payroll and maintenance budgets this year.

The building is scheduled to be moved into place the week following May 24th and immediately made ready to better serve the public and the members. "We can hardly wait!" Stinson said.

The Expropriations Act NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR APPROVAL TO EXPROPRIATE LAND

IN THE MATTER OF an application by the Corporation of the Provisional County of Haliburton for approval to expropriate land being part of Lot 19, Concession II in the Township of Minden, in the Provisional County of Haliburton for the purpose of the reconstruction of the Kashagawigamog Lake Road (County Road No. 18).

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that application has been made for approval to expropriate the land described as follows: Part 7 on Registered Plan 19R2283.

Any owner of lands in respect of which notice is given who desires an inquiry into whether the taking of such land is fair, sound and reasonably necessary in the achievement of the objectives of the expropriating authority shall so notify the approving authority in writing.

(a) in the case of a registered owner, served personally or by registered mail within thirty days after he is served with the notice, or, when he is served by publication, within thirty days after the first publication of the notice;

(b) in the case of an owner who is not a registered owner, within thirty days after the first publication of the notice.

The approving authority is The Corporation of the Provisional County of Haliburton, Box 399, Minden, Ontario.

THE CORPORATION OF THE PROVISIONAL COUNTY OF HALIBURTON

Signed,
W.E. Obee, County Engineer

NOTES

1. The Expropriation Act provides that,

(a) where an inquiry is requested, it shall be conducted by an inquiry officer appointed by the Minister of Justice and Attorney General;

(b) the inquiry officer,

(i) shall give every party to the inquiry an opportunity to present evidence and argument and to examine and cross-examine witnesses, either personally or by his counsel or agent, and

(ii) may recommend to the approving authority that a party to the inquiry be paid a fixed amount for his costs of the inquiry not to exceed $200 and the approving authority may in its discretion order the expropriating authority to pay such costs forthwith.

2. 'owner' and 'registered owner' are defined in the Act as follows:

'owner' includes a mortgagee, tenant, execution creditor, a person entitled to a limited estate or interest in land, a committee of the estate of a mentally incompetent person or of a person incapable of managing his affairs, and a guardian, executor, administrator or trustee in whom land is vested;

'registered owner' means an owner of land whose interest in the land is defined and whose name is specified in an instrument in the proper registry, land titles or sheriff's office, and includes a person shown as a tenant of land on the last revised assessment roll;

3. The expropriating authority, each owner who notifies the approving authority that he desires a hearing in respect of lands intended to be expropriated and any owner added as a party by the inquiry officer are parties to the inquiry.

This notice first published on the 28th day of April, 1982.

Ball league for youngsters

Youngsters in the Minden area will be able to enjoy league baseball this year thanks to the efforts of Tom Russell, Kathy Short and other adult volunteers. This is the first time in a number of years that league play has been organized for junior ball.

The league will use the two diamonds at the Archie Stouffer Elementary School with two divisions. Children between the ages of 4 and 7 years will take part in the T ball league, while regulation softball will be played by youngsters 8 to 13 years old.

In T ball, the ball is placed on a tee at home plate, rather than pitched to the batter. The method gives the batters a better chance of hitting the ball, increasing the excitement of the play.

The first games in both leagues will be next Tuesday evening, May 11. Game time is 6:15 p.m. Players interested in taking part in the league are invited to attend next Tuesday to register and to be assigned to a team.

Of rabbits, dogs and deer

Animals were featured prominently in this week's report of traffic accidents from the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

According to the authorities, a dog is responsible for $5,000 damage to a truck and car parked at the lookout tower in Dorset.

The truck belonging to Robert Yearwood, 25, of Belleville was parked at the tower Friday evening. While Yearwood was admiring the view from the vantage point, the dog, which was left inside the truck, apparently bumped the gear shift, knocking the vehicle into neutral.

The truck rolled down the hill, taking with it a 1967 Mustang car which was on an attached trailer. The chain of vehicles crossed the ditch and slammed into a tree.

Police estimate there was $4,000 damage to the truck and $1,000 damage to the car.

It was also pointed out that while the dog may have been licenced, his tag did not include driving privileges.

The investigating officer was Constable Jim Martin.

Rabbit

There were more than Volkswagen Rabbits on the Blairhampton Road Saturday evening. Andrew Shapiera of Minden was driving on the road when a four legged animal of that name darted onto the roadway. Shapiera swerved to miss the hare, but in the process lost control of his vehicle and skidded into the ditch.

The damage was estimated at $2,000. Constable Weldon Popp investigated the incident.

Deer

A deer attempting to cross the Buckhorn Road Sunday evening was struck and killed by a car driven by Roy Breen of Haliburton. The extent of the damage to Breen's 1975 model Chrysler was not indicated. Constable Bryan Bowers investigated the incident.

Motorcyclist injured

sustained injuries to his hip and ankle following a motorcycle accident Saturday morning.

Kelly Young, 20, of Lochlin was driving his 1981 Honda on South Lake Road near Minden when he lost control of the vehicle. He was treated at the Minden Red Cross Hospital and later released.

Constable Mike Smith is the investigating officer.

NOTICE

IN THE MATTER OF the Municipal Act; and IN THE MATTER OF a proposed By-law of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden to stop up, close and convey to adjoining the landowner part of the 66 foot 'unopened' Original Shoreline (Marine) Allowance for Road around the shoreline perimeter of Kashagawigamog Lake in front of Lot 29, Concession 6 in the Township of Minden.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Section 301(1) of the Municipal Act R.S.O. 1980, as amended, that the Council of the Corporation of the Townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden at its regular meeting to be held in the Municipal Council Chambers, Milne Street, Minden on WEDNESDAY, May 26th, 1982 at 7:30 p.m., proposes to consider and, if deemed advisable to pass a By-law to stop up, close and convey the above-noted portion of road allowance more particularly described as follows:-

All that part adjoining the original shoreline allowance for road along the shore of Kashagawigamog Lake in front of Lot 29, Concession 6 in the Township of Minden in the Provisional County of Haliburton, designated as Part 1 on a Plan of Survey by H.C. Bishop, O.L.S. dated December 18, 1981.

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that before passing said by-law at the meeting to be held at the time and place mentioned, the Council shall then and there hear in person or by his Counsel, Solicitor or Agent any person who claims that his or her land will be prejudicially affected by the said By-law and who applies to be heard.

Private gun control bill raises storm of protest

Bill C-451, the private member's bill that calls for the registration of all firearms and ammunition in the country has drawn strong objections from hunters and sportsmen across Canada, and Opposition spokesmen are now claiming that it will never pass a second reading in the House.

The bill was introduced to Parliament by former solicitor general and cabinet minister Warren Allmand. It calls for all guns and ammunition to be registered with a Firearms Possession Certificate (FPC), making it a criminal offence to possess firearms without the FPC.

The bill also allows a "transitional provision" that would allow a period of one year for gun owners to register their firearms and ammunition with FPC.

Allmand was also responsible for the legislation which established the Firearms Acquisition Certificate (FAC) several years ago, which requires a prospective gun owner to obtain an FAC before buying a firearm.

According to Doug Tedford, president of the Haliburton County Marksmen's Club, Allmand's bill is "trying to take the FAC one step further. The government is tying our hands," Tedford said in an interview last week, "and this is one more thing they want to licence us for. It is bringing us to the point where, ten years from now, no one will be able to own a firearm," Tedford said.

Tedford also claims the move to establish an FPC would not have a significant effect on crime: "In this case, the old saying is true; 'take guns away from citizens and you give them to criminals.' New York City has one of the toughest gun laws in the States, and they have a huge crime rate," Tedford points out.

Tedford says that the Haliburton County Marksmen's Club and all its members are writing to MP's and Allmand to protest the bill.

The Ontario Federation of Anglers and

Hunters, the 28,000-member conservation group based in Peterborough, has also requested Allmand to withdraw the bill. In a letter to Allmand dated March 18, OFAH President Doug Ogston called the FPC a "waste of time, effort and money." The letter also says that the bill, "would impose an undue hardship on average citizens and make criminals out of law abiding people."

Ogston also says in the letter that "there are enough pieces of the current criminal code which unfairly oppress law abiding responsible owners of firearms."

A spokesman for Haliburton/Victoria Federal MP Bill Scott said current gun control is sufficient. George Shaw, Administrative Assistant to Scott, told The Times from his Ottawa office Friday that Canadians have "as much gun control legislation on the books right now as they need. I don't think the government has any business trying to control responsible gun ownership," he added.

Shaw also said that Solicitor General Robert Kaplan has given his assurance to the House of Commons that the bill will not become law. According to minutes of a house question period March 31, Kaplan told Maurice Foster, Liberal MP for Algoma, "I do not agree with Bill C-451. It is not government policy. I have no intention of proposing changes to gun legislation."

Shaw added that Warren Allmand is "anti-gun", and that he "would like to see all the guns in the country on the scrap heap. There would be no more hunting or sports shooting; we'd be defenceless," Shaw added.

According to Shaw, there has been a "tremendous" response to Allmand's bill from Scott's constituents. "The response to Allmand's proposals is constant. Everyday brings two or three letters asking Scott's position on the bill and asking if there's any chance of it becoming law," Shaw said.

He added that it is "not likely" the bill will get past second reading in the house.

The uproar over C-451

- by Bill Scott, M.P. -

Federal Solicitor General Robert Kaplan has issued a statement in the House of Commons that the controversial Private Member's Bill C-451, dealing with gun controls, does not represent government policy. This means in effect that the government will not support the bill in the House if it comes up for second reading, and Mr. Kaplan has also given assurances that the government has no plans to bring in legislation strengthening present gun control laws.

Bill C-451, which would have imposed severe restrictions on the ownership of shotguns and rifles, and the possession of ammunition for those types of guns, has generated a storm of protest around the country since it was introduced by former solicitor general Warren Allmand.

My own Ottawa and constituency offices have been deluged with mail and calls protesting what people thought to be a government ploy to bring in new, more restrictive gun controls by having one of its own Members try to slip through a Private Member's Bill. Happily, this did not prove to be true.

Mr. Allmand's bill sought to require a Firearms Possession Certificate for anyone who owned, or sought to buy, a shotgun or rifle. He would also have required that anyone who owned such a weapon prior to January 1, 1978, apply to a "Firearms Officer" for a Firearms Possession Certificate, and this would also apply to anyone possessing or seeking to purchase any type of ammunition.

Present Gun Control Legislation, agreed to by both the government and the Official Opposition in Parliament, requires that anyone wishing to purchase or trade a shotgun or rifle after January 1, 1978, obtain a Firearms Acquisition Certificate from a local police department. Rifles and shotguns obtained prior to that date are not subject to those regulations. Antique weapons and pellet guns are exempted from the regulations.

The existing regulations also prohibit the issuance of a Firearms Acquisition Certificate to anyone convicted in the previous five years of a crime involving violence, or anyone with a history of mental disorder.

Handguns are already adequately covered by the Criminal Code as restricted weapons requiring special licensing, and automatic weapons are also covered by the Criminal Code and are classed as prohibited weapons. Handguns and automatic weapons are, for the most part, licenced for bona fide gun collectors and members of recognized gun clubs.

When questioned in the House of Commons on March 31, 1982, concerning the government's plans with regard to Bill C-451, Mr. Kaplan stated that he had read the bill, that he did not like it, and that it did not represent government policy.

Mr. Kaplan said that the government has no plans to proceed with new legislation to change the existing gun control laws, and this statement met with general favour and relief on the part of most Members of Parliament, and with the general public.

The Progressive Conservative party in Parliament supported the present gun control legislation on the government's pledge that it would not press for tighter legislation in the future. We feel that the present laws are adequate, that they offer sufficient protection to the public, and that they recognize the right of the average, responsible citizen to own and use shotguns and rifles in legitimate pursuits, such as sport-shooting and hunting.

Women's Institute Semi-annual meeting

"From a Flicker to a Flame" is the theme for this the 85th Anniversary of the Women's Institute depicting the growth and achievements of the organization with a modest beginning in 1897 now has 9 million members around the world. The highlight will be the Celebration in Toronto August 12th when 1200 delegates from Ontario will hear the World President Mrs. Ziny Westebring-Muller of the Netherlands.

Mrs. Janet Hiepleh, president, presided at the semi-annual meeting of the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario, where plans were made for participation in the National Convention in Fredericton in June; projects were promoted, resolutions dealt with and reports heard.

Mrs. Bernice Noblitt of Ottawa, now president-elect for Canada, urged the women to be better informed re. Pensions and Bill C53. A brief has been prepared regarding the latter.

Miss Molly McGhee, Director of Home Economics, brought the directors up to date on the activities of her branch and thanked the members for over 2,000 Adult Volunteer leaders and sponsorship of many of the 4H clubs throughout the Province.

A special day is planned for June 13 at the Agricultural Museum at Milton when the likeness of Mr. Erland Lee, the Women's Institute Nominee, will be unveiled in the Ontario Agricultural Hall of Fame along with others who contributed to agriculture in the province. Visitors to the Museum during the summer will be able to see and take part in the many special events as well as visit the Women's Institute Hall.

The Board of Directors visited the Erland Lee

Museum Home at Stoney Creek where the Constitution was penned in 1897. It was a memorable afternoon, being the first event in this the 10th Anniversary of the ownership by the Federated Women's Institute of Ontario. Visitors may visit this beautiful Home with its beautiful artifacts from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. from Monday to Friday.

Despite all the plans for 1982 it is necessary for many to think of the World Conference coming to B.C. in June 1983. Plans are being made for pre-and post-conference tours of our country and a warm welcome to our overseas visitors. Special events at the conference include an interfaith service, Canada Day celebrations, special speakers, music, choirs, and a panorama of Canadian culture and history with Bobby Curtola as Master of Ceremonies.

Next week over 550 delegates from all of Ontario will attend an officers conference at Waterloo University to learn new skills in leadership, and be informed of the purpose, work and activities of the Women's Institute. They and the Board Directors will know the many projects locally and world wide and with this knowledge they will be better equipped to contribute to the growth of the Women's Institute, meet the challenges in their Communities and thus be a Voice for all Women.

The smells of spring

- Agricultural report -

Anyone who lives in, or has driven through farming areas in the past week or so, will have noticed one of the characteristic odours of spring on the farm - the smell of freshly spread livestock manure.

Every year the Agricultural Office receives calls from people wondering why there isn't a law to prohibit farmers from causing such terrible odours. Usually these calls are from some new rural resident who has recently moved from a city.

There is no law against a farmer spreading livestock manure on his land. And when we think about it, I don't think anyone would really want such a law.

For, if we never smelled livestock manure, we'd also miss being able to smell many of the odours we enjoy the most.

We would no longer be able to smell bacon and eggs cooking for breakfast. Gone would be the aroma of steaks and pork chops and lamb shishkabobs cooking on a barbeque. The delightful aroma of roast beef and roast turkey would no longer be available. The smell of fried chicken would also be a thing of the past.

So the next time your nostrils pick up the unmistakable odour of freshly spread livestock manure, remember that without that smell, there would be no opportunity to enjoy the aromas of all the foods we enjoy from that livestock. Be thankful we live in a country where it is possible to experience both these types of odours.

Events this week:

Tuesday, May 11, 8 p.m.: Haliburton County Farmers' Association Monthly meeting, at Stanhope Library.

For more information, contact Carm Hamilton, 324-6125. Zenith 97920.

Police car nab speeders

A number of county drivers have become familiar with the latest addition to the Minden OPP detachment.

The vehicle is a regular police cruiser with the traditional markings, except for two things. The light and siren array is missing from the roof which means the vehicle lacks the tell-tale silhouette which usually warns motorists of the special status of the car.

This vehicle also contains a special radar unit which can be used when the cruiser is at the side of the road or when it is moving. As some motorists have discovered, the device can even measure the speed of oncoming cars when the cruiser is travelling in the opposite direction.

According to Community Services officer Gary Chapman, the specially equipped car will be in use throughout the county to help combat speeding.

Reunion

If you went to Haliburton High
From September '70 till June '71
Then mark off this date
And come have some fun.

It's May 22nd at 7 p.m.
At Haliburton High we all gather in.
Students, teachers, staff and all
For this is the night of our REUNION.

Your presence is necessary
To make it worthwhile.
There's no bells or buzzers
And no single file.
Just music, dance, chatter and laugh
See that girl who broke your heart in half.

The fee to get in is four dollars a head.
Can that person still turn your face red?

Students and teachers one and all
Get on the phone and give me a call.
My name is Derinda - remember me?
If that's not familiar, how about Tilly?

A definite number we surely do need.
Attendance has to be guaranteed.
Reunions are held all over the place.
Let's make ours a success; not a disgrace.

Ten years have passed - just simply fled.
There were those days, I thought school would never end.
And now it's over and gone for good.
I often wonder where all my friends went.

Pull on those blue jeans and T-shirts,
Running shoes, hats and beat up boots.
Wear those low cuts and short short skirts.
Forget the bowtie, formals and suits.

Just call in the sitter and feed the cat.
Turn down the furnace and grab your hat.
It's out tonight to H.H.S.S.
Let's see what's in store at the old home nest.

OCAP CAN HELP

Are you between the ages of 16 and 24?
Have you been out of school for at least 3 months?

Are you actively looking for your first full-time, career-related job?

If the answer is yes to each of these questions, the Ontario government has just the program for you...

The Ontario Career Action Program

You may be finding it extremely difficult to get a job in your chosen line of work because you lack experience; at the same time, the only way to obtain this experience is by getting a job! The Government of Ontario has designed the Ontario Career Action Program (OCAP) to help you over this frustrating hurdle.

Earn while you learn

The OCAP training period lasts up to 16 weeks, depending on the complexity of training. During this time, you receive a training allowance of $100 a week.

Get practical, on-the-job training

OCAP gives you practical, on-the-job training. You learn in a real work environment, one of the best ways to improve your job skills, work habits, and productivity. This work experience should increase your chances of obtaining that first all-important regular job. It should also help you to compete for jobs with more self-confidence. OCAP will not find you a permanent job, but it will help you to find one for yourself.

Find that permanent job

Job-search counselling and career guidance are also part of the OCAP experience. You will participate in workshops on how to search for employment effectively, how to write a good resume, and how to present yourself at a job interview. You will also be encouraged to apply for regular jobs and given help in arranging job interviews during your training.

How to apply

Application forms for participation in the Ontario Career Action Program and further information are available from the OCAP office at your local community college or Canada Employment Centre.

Representatives from S.S.F.C. will be at our Haliburton campus Wed., May 12, 1982 & Thurs., May 13, 1982 from 9:00 - 12:00 to receive applications and provide further information on OCAP. Please drop in or give us a call at 705-457-1680.

EMPLOYERS OCAP can help

If you are an employer who wants to hire a young, eager person but can't meet the initial training costs...the Ontario government has an employment program just for you...

What is OCAP?

The Ontario Career Action Program is designed to help young people learn practical, marketable skills on the job. Many young people face a major problem. Lack of previous work experience prevents them from finding regular jobs related to their career goals and education, yet the only way they can get that experience is by being employed!

OCAP was created to help overcome this dilemma by bringing together unemployed youths and employers, with the help of your local community college.

Earn while you learn

OCAP provides on-the-job training for a period of up to 16 weeks. Trainees will receive an allowance of $100 per week plus 4 per cent vacation pay from the Ontario Government. Income Tax, Canada Pension Plan and Unemployment Insurance premiums will be deducted. Trainees are responsible for their own health coverage but most trainees will qualify for premium assistance. Enquire at your local OHIP office.

Who qualifies?

TRAINERS: All Ontario businesses, industries, provincial government ministries, colleges, universities, Crown corporations, municipal and federal governments are eligible to participate.

You must ensure:

* that the training will be for a period of up to 16 weeks, depending on the complexity of the job duties

* that there are good prospects for employment of the trainee with you after OCAP

* OR that the skills acquired in training are marketable in the community, so that job prospects for the trainee are good with other businesses

* that no regular full-time or part-time employees are displaced in any way by the introduction of an OCAP trainee

Representatives from Sir Sandford Fleming College will be available:

Wed., May 12 1:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Thurs., May 13 1:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m.

Please drop in to our Haliburton campus to discuss your training needs or give us a call at 705-457-1680.

Firemen learn auto rescues

Firefighters from the six fire departments in Haliburton County will be attending a training course this summer that will teach the intricacies of removing accident victims from automobiles.

A four day course in auto extrication will be held August 9 to 13 at the Minden Fire Hall and Brown's Auto Wrecking yard on Bobcaygeon Road. Fire Departments in Cardiff, Dysart, Glamorgan, Minden, Monmouth and Stanhope will each have two firefighters taking part in the program, which is being sponsored jointly by the Haliburton County Mutual Aid Association and the Fire Marshall's office.

Minden Fire Chief 'Deke'

Jackson says part of the 40 hour course will be spent in the classroom while the rest will be spent tearing apart cars at Brown's. Jackson expects two Minden firefighters will register for the course, which will be taught by two instructors from the Fire

Marshall's office. Ambulance supervisor, Robert Luke says two of his men will also participate, along with observers from the Dysart ambulance corps and officers of the O.P.P.

The 100 inch loom was installed at the Minden Library and Cultural Centre common room during the weekend. It will be in operation there for the next year. Members of the Spinners and Weavers group of the Guild of Fine Arts will be using the extra-wide loom for projects that could not be done on narrower looms. Visitors are welcome to watch the weavers in action and someone should be working on the machine daily.

C-I-L show draws 307

If attendance is any indication, the C-I-L Exhibition at Minden's Cultural Centre Agnes Jamieson Gallery has been a resounding success.

Margot Ziorjen of the Agnes Jamieson Gallery says 307 people signed the gallery book during the month long exhibition of 25 paintings by major Canadian artists and 150 children from Archie Stouffer Elementary School also viewed the show.

Besides the permanent collection of works by Andre Lapine, the C-I-L Exhibition marked the first exhibit for the gallery and Ziorjen says the response to the show went far beyond anyone's expectations.

A new exhibit opens tonight at the gallery. Works by students of Archie Stouffer Elementary School will be on display until the end of May. The pieces will include both painting and fabric work, and Mrs. Ziorjen expects the submissions to fill both rooms and the hallway at the gallery.

The Wednesday opening will be marked by a number of special events as well. Gymnasts from Archie Stouffer will perform on the balance beam Wednesday evening, and children preparing for music night at the school will also be performing at the opening. Ruth Gorrie, president of the Haliburton Guild of Fine Arts, will present ten Archie Stouffer students with scholarships for summer courses offered by the Guild this year. Works by the ten winners will be displayed in a special section of the exhibition.

The Children's Art Show will be open daily from 3 to 5 p.m., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, evenings and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Band captures top prize in Bancroft

The Archie Stouffer Elementary School's grade eight band made a strong showing at the North Hastings Music Festival last week in Bancroft, coming away with prizes in all of the twenty-five classes band members entered.

The thirty-member band, under the direction of Glen Carter, competed against groups from throughout North Hastings and Haliburton counties in the annual festival. Saturday afternoon the Gideons came, telling about their work getting Bibles through. We heartily support them. How about you?

We had another lovely service in the chapel on Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Hudson from Horseshoe Lake took the first part of the service. Mrs. Hudson played and Mr. Hudson read the lesson, and lead in prayer. Rev. Brubacher took over from there - a really interesting service. It was so nice to have the Brubachers with us again.

Monday morning down in the gym, where they exercise us to keep us nice and slim. Watched three movies Monday night, put on by Lynda. These movies were really good to see.

Wednesday morning Rev. Wicks from Minden Gospel Church held service in the chapel here. He took his text from Hebrews chapter four, "Jesus said - come unto me, all ye who are heavy laden and I will give you rest." Our girls came to sing and play - a real nice service. By the way, Fred Ballard came and entertained us fine. Played the piano and the organ at the same time.

Wednesday night was games night once again. Lots of ladies, not too many men.

Thursday afternoon, the Lochlin U.C.W. Ladies brought in a lovely lunch. Also a beautiful birthday cake for those who had birthdays in April. We thank you ladies for going to all that trouble.

Thursday night we went to Haliburton to the Festival of Fun. Doris took the bus which she can really run. It was a real good show. We enjoyed every minute. All who acted or took part in it did their parts really well.

Our manager is working hard, been here every day this week. We were wondering if it might be higher pay he seeks.

Mrs. Coburn and Mrs. Barron came this Friday afternoon, to play and sing, and lead us in some very merry tunes. Mrs. Coburn generally has a couple of humorous readings that really fit in fine. We thank them for coming and giving of their time.

God bless each little light that burns

In an unexpected place
An altar in a darkened church

Or in a sad, sad face.
God bless each little light
And fan each flame
And keep it bright

There is so much of darkness

That we need each little light.

There was a tremendous turnout last Friday evening at the Monk Funeral Home in Minden for the late Stanley Cooper, who passed away last week in his 85th year. He was one of the few remaining veterans of World War One and had attended the Vimy Ridge dinner celebrated at Sir Sam Hughes Royal Canadian Legion in Lindsay on Wednesday, April 7th. He was a past Master of North Entrance Masonic Lodge of Haliburton and a member of Branch 129 Royal Canadian Legion of Haliburton. Our deepest sympathy goes to his family and friends. He will be sorely missed.

A very hearty welcome goes to Mrs. Joan Walters who will be at St. Paul's Parish as an assistant in Ministry for the summer. We hope she has a very pleasant stay in our midst.

There was a great turnout for the card party given by the A.C.W. of St. Paul's last Monday to help their foster child. There were fourteen tables of cards. Refreshments were served and door prizes and prizes for winners at cards were awarded. It was an enjoyable evening for all.

The St. Paul's Parish Mini Card Party winners for last week are as follows: Cribbage - Lilian Davidson, Isabel Harrison. Euchre: lone hands (on a cut) Gladys Wruth, high, Alice Clark, low, Shirley Elcome.

Fred Hewitt spent the weekend with his mother Joyce Hewitt.

Walter and Susan Perk and Cindy, have just returned from a pleasant winter sojourn in Florida. All their friends are delighted to have them back.

Despite the fact that Winnifred Bedlington is still confined to hospital in Oakville, it was no deterrent to her celebrating an absolutely wonderful 100th birthday last Wednesday. The nurses on the third and fourth floor of the hospital, presented her with a lovely corsage and a large birthday cake. Her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, along with other friends and relatives, were on hand to wish this great lady well. Among the many cablegrams, cards and greetings she received was a greeting from Her Majesty The Queen, Lieutenant Governor of Ontario John Aird, Progressive Conservative Leader Joe Clark, The Right Honorable William Davis, The Honorable James Snow, M.P.P., Halton County M.P. Otto Jelenick and Mayor Barrett of Oakville. The Lutterworth Council sent flowers and a letter composed by the Clerk Treasurer Wayne Hughes. There was a letter of congratulations from the Reverend and Mrs. George Elliott and a letter from the Parish of St. Paul's, Minden. We all wish her the best and hope she will soon recover her health and will be at home again anticipating her 101th Birthday. God bless you Winnifred!

Major Glynn Lewis will be in St. Catherine's this week, helping to train a special Drill Squad of the Ridley College Cadet Corps, at Ridley College. There will be an inspection of the Corps this coming Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Milne from Fergus visited with Mrs. Verna Jarvis last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barkwell of Huntsville, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sisson and Mrs. Allen Hobden, all of Lindsay, spent the weekend with Mrs. Taylor Kernohan.

Calorie Counters held their convention at Wig-A-Mog Inn this past Friday and Saturday with between two and three hundred attending. Friday morning began with registering and welcoming visitors. Coffee was served and then the workshop began. There were weight recorders and nutritionist Leslie Orpana gave a very informative talk on the sensible way of eating for good nutrition, following which she handed out pamphlets. At 12:30, lunch was served and during the afternoon there were guest speakers. Sharon Downing gave a great talk on ways to feel and look good. At 4 p.m. there was an area representative meeting, then the ladies were on their own until the evening, which was called Fun Evening and many of the guests participated in some hilarious skits. Saturday at 1:30 the awards were presented. There was a social hour from 5:30 to 6 p.m., following which a banquet was served. It was a very entertaining and informative convention for all the guests. Area Number 2 was represented by Lindsay Slender Benders - No. 29, Lorneville Slimettes - 211, Haliburton Slim Highlanders - No. 416, Manilla Slimmer Halves - No. 464, Minden Slender Seekers - 578.

Mrs. Sisson attended the convention at Wig-A-Mog Inn on Saturday.

Friends will be happy to hear that Mr. Robert Hughes is improving steadily since his return from the hospital. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

At the Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home, a very happy birthday with many happy returns of the day to Mildred Wood and Ida Schell, both celebrating birthdays on May 10.

Mrs. Ruth Harrison of the Sunrise Apartments visited with her daughter Mrs. Bagshaw for a few days last week.

I am sorry to report that Doris Craig was in Toronto attending the funeral of her brother Arthur Butwell this week. Our deepest sympathy to Doris on the loss of her brother, and to other members of the family.

I am also very sorry to report that Bill Perkins, of Lutterworth Estates collapsed and died suddenly in Toronto this past week. He and his wife had moved to the Park this past November. A Masonic Memorial Service was held on Monday at the Hogels Funeral Home in Toronto, a Memorial service at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, and the burial service was held on Wednesday. All our condolences to his wife, members of his family and friends.

Our congratulations and very best wishes to Nancy and Brian Adamson on the birth of a son, Dru Gerald on April 12. Virginia now has a little brother.

Please keep in mind the new exhibit to be held at the Agnes Jamieson Art Gallery from May 5th to May 29th. The show is the work of the children from the Archie Stouffer School, and there will be a special show on Wednesday evening, May 5th from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. The event will feature, in addition to the exhibit, Mr. Carter's students rendering four musical numbers and a display of gymnastics by the students. They will perform at approximately 8:15 p.m., and refreshments will be served. Everyone is welcome.

Congratulations and best wishes to the Kirk Coneybeares, in Calgary, Alberta, on the birth of a son, Jason McKay. And congratulations too, to the proud grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Coneybeare, and great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coneybeare.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Cox and family visited with Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Cox and other relatives this weekend.

Roween McKelvey is presently confined to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Austin will be home Thursday after a five week holiday in Myrtle Beach. Friends will be happy to see them back.

Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Graham (nee Daniel) of Oakwood are the proud parents of a baby boy born April 26th at Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay. Congratulations to the parents, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bunker and great-grandmother Kathryn Daniel.

I am sorry to report that Mrs. Tom Cox is presently confined to Minden Hospital.

Hi! Hope that little bit of rain we had on Sunday didn't dampen anyone's spirit.

It has started, the heavy traffic on the weekends, so be careful driving.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Rintoul, from Shelburne, were up to their cottage on the weekend and visited with Ken, Jeanne and Heather Bowron.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles were up to their cottage for the weekend and visited with the Floyd Millers.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. Glaser were up to their cottage and visited with the Millers.

Jeunne and Carole and David visited with the family in Shelburne on the weekend.

Pam, Rick and Jocelyn Dunsford were up visiting friends and relatives over the weekend.

In spite of confinement to hospital, Mrs. Winnifred Bedlington enjoyed her first century on Wednesday, April 28. The nurses of the Oakville Trafalgar Memorial Hospital third and fourth floors, in succession of floors, called and presented a corsage and a birthday cake, and a card of poetry.

Then intermittently throughout the day, immediate family, grand and great grandchildren visited the lady.

There were masses of flowers, cards, and letters, including a cable from Her Majesty The Queen, and a letter and lovely flowers from Lutterworth Township.

Our splended Lady was delighted and overwhelmed, but enjoyed a good sleep that night.

There is going to be an 'Arbor Day' for the Junior Horticulture Society on May 8th at the Library Complex. All are welcome to attend. Warden Ron Gambell will be there to turn the sod for our tree planting.

Hint of the Week

Steel-wool soap pads and elbow grease still clean white wall tires best.

Mother's Day is when everybody waits on mother and she pretends she doesn't mind the extra work.

Kids Korner

All you youngsters out there come to the 'Arbor Day' on May 8th at 9:30 in the morning at the Library Complex. Bring all your friends and relatives. We will be serving cookies and freshie. See you there?

CARD OF THANKS

Caryl D. would like to sincerely thank all her warm and wonderful friends who supported her and Bill at their emotion-charged gathering on Saturday last. She was too overwhelmed at the time to thank everyone properly, but the cards, flowers, gifts and brilliant poetry will be treasured. (Would the low-life who gave her Geritol and orthopedic underwear please come forward!!) Caryl is now looking forward to the quiet and reflective years unhamp-ered by the frivolities of youth and it's nice to know that she has such good (and well dressed) friends going the same way. 5A

CARD OF THANKS

The Agnes Jamieson Gallery Committee would like to thank volunteers who donated their time to help us keep the Gallery open for the C-I-L Exhibit. We also wish to extend our sincere thanks to every one of our visitors that came to view this exhibit, making attendance surpass all expectations.

Bill and Marilyn Skelding thank everyone for their help during our recent fire. The support of our relatives, friends, and neighbours is greatly appreciated. 5A

Once again, I would like to thank Dr's Holliday-Rhodes, Watson and Winters for their excellent care during surgery and to all the wonderful people for visits, cards, flowers and gifts and especially their concern and love. Sincerely, Edith Coney-beare. 5A

IN MEMORIAM

WARBURTON - In loving memory of our darling daughter Donna-Lynn who passed away April 29, 1965.

This day comes with deep regret,

It brings back the day we'll never forget,

So many things have happened Donna

Since you were called away,
So many things to share with you,

Had you been left to stay,
A cluster of precious memories,

Sparkled with love and tears,

Wishing that God had spared you

If only a few more years.

Beside your grave we sometimes stand,

We try so hard to understand

The tears in our eyes, we wipe away,

But the pain in our hearts is there to stay,

If we had one wish today

And knew it would come true,

We would telephone to heaven and ask to speak to you.

Ever remembered by Mom and Dad. 5A
